Overview

It's likely a scam. While there are some government-funded solar programs for households that qualify, "going solar" isn't free. Honest businesses will tell you exactly how much it'll cost to get and install solar panels. Should you choose a solar company to avoid scams?

A lengthy history of lawsuits is another red flag when considering a solar company to avoid scams. These legal issues could involve poor workmanship, unfulfilled promises, or fraudulent practices. Prior to choosing a solar provider, thorough research into any existing lawsuits or complaints is essential.

What are the most common solar scams?

Here are some common scams to be aware of: 1. Fake Solar Companies Some scammers create fake solar companies, selling solar panel systems without any intention of installing them. They may ask for a big upfront payment and then vanish without doing any work. 2. Identity Theft Scams.

Are solar panels a scam?

With that demand comes fierce competition within the solar panel market. Scams, schemes and straight-up fraud abound in the dark underbelly of an otherwise light-filled industry. While there are still many honest and reliable solar panel companies on the market, it can be hard to differentiate the good guys from the rest.

How do I know if a solar company is a scam?

Look up existing scams. The Better Business Bureau has a free scam tracker. You can search by company name or keyword to see if there are any active scams in your area. Ask questions. A legitimate solar company will be happy to answer questions. If they get pushy or dodge your questions, that's a red flag.

Are solar panel scams common in Florida and California?

Solar panel scams in Florida and California are quite common, as they are in any region where solar energy is popular and incentives are provided. Scammers take advantage of people's limited knowledge about solar systems, providing misleading information that makes it hard for victims to recognize the scam.

Is a solar lease a scam?

Solar Lease or PPA Scams While leasing or using a Power Purchase Agreement (PPA) for solar panels isn't inherently a scam, these contracts can be challenging to break. Be cautious, as they may lock you into an unwanted monthly payment for a solar array you don't own.
