

Cost of replacing solar panels

Overview

The longer it takes to complete this process, the more energy production and electric savings you will miss out on, so it's important that this process moves as quickly as possible.

In most cases, we will be able to reuse your existing equipment. There may be some components that we are not able to reuse, but the main components, panels, and racking will be reused.

After the panels are removed from your roof, you will need a place to store them. In some cases, the panels will be okay stored outside, but only if they are in an area protected from the elements.

Based on the average cost of projects we've completed in the last year, you can expect to pay roughly $300 per panel for the removal and reinstallation of a roof-mounted solar system.

The process is simple. After you've selected a trained professional, they will come to your property to safely de-energize your system. Then they will get to work removing the panels, racking/mounting hardware, and any wiring that's on the roof. This will be stripped down to a point that will keep your property safe as well as possible.

The longer it takes to complete this process, the more energy production and electric savings you will miss out on, so it's important that this process moves as quickly as possible. You will want to make sure all the details are in place with both your solar installer and the manufacturer.

After the panels are removed from your roof, you will need a place to store them. In some cases, the panels will be okay stored outside, but only if they are in an area protected from the wind and rain. When solar panels are disconnected, the electrical connectors should be capped.

In most cases, we will be able to reuse your existing equipment. There may be some components that we are not able to reuse, but the main components, panels, and racking will be reused.

Based on the average cost of projects we've completed in the last year, you can expect to pay roughly $300 per panel for the removal and reinstallation.

The cost to replace solar panels varies depending on factors such as location and system size. On average, most people spend between $16,500 and $21,000 for solar panels, with the national average installation cost being about $19,000¹². Removing and reinstalling a solar energy system averages $1,500, and cleaning the panels during removal costs around $10 to $20 per panel³. The average 5-kilowatt solar panel system costs $14,210, but a typical American household needs a system closer to 10 kW, which costs $28,241⁴. How much does it cost to replace a roof before solar?

If you have an asphalt roof over 5-10 years old, you'll probably want to replace it before going solar. Replacing your roof and installing solar costs about $30,000. If you need to replace your roof after you install solar panels, expect solar panel removal and reinstallation to cost anywhere from $1,500 to $6,000.

How much does it cost to install solar panels?

Replacing your roof and installing solar panels will probably cost about $30,000. This assumes you're installing an average 10.5 kW system (about $21,000 after the 30% federal tax credit) and an asphalt roof ($10,000). This isn't cheap, but you may be able to knock some dollars off the price by asking your solar installer for a roofing referral.

How much does it cost to remove and reinstall a solar system?

This means if your system has 15 panels, the estimated cost to complete the removal and reinstallation will be $4,500. However, this price will change based on several factors.

Should I remove or reinstall my solar panels?

Removing and reinstalling your panels is one of those potential costs. With solar panel warranties of 25 to 30 years and a usable lifespan of well over 30 years, it is possible that you will need to remove the panels to patch a portion of your roof or install an entirely new roof.

How much does a solar system cost?

Most people will need to spend between $16,500 and $21,000 for solar panels, with the national average solar installation costing about $19,000. Most of the time, you'll see solar system costs listed as the cost per watt of solar installed so you can easily compare prices between quotes for different system sizes.

Should I replace my roof and get solar panels at the same time?

Replacing your roof and getting solar panels at the same time can even provide some benefits. When you install solar panels and a new roof at the same time, it's very unlikely you'll need to re-roof during your system's lifetime. Solar panels are more durable than most roofing materials and can extend the life of the roof shingles they cover.
