Overview

A storage agreement is an agreement under which one party will grant permission for another party to store goods in their property, in exchange for a fee.

No. It is possible to grant permission to use a space for storage verbally or informally. However, it is helpful to have a written agreement so that.

The parties may both be individuals. In this case, they should be over 18 and have full legal capacity. Legal capacity refers to a situation where a person has the ability to understand and make legal decisions for themselves. The landlord.

Before a party enters into a storage agreement, they should: 1. check the terms of their insurance- to ensure that granting permission for a third party to use the space does not impact.

The storage agreement can remain in place indefinitely, but the agreement may be terminated at any time by providing a specified amount of written notice.
