What is photovoltaic poverty alleviation (PVPA)?

Photovoltaic Poverty Alleviation (PVPA) projects, which utilize the subsidies and income from PV power to alleviate poverty in rural areas, are part of a comprehensive energy policy innovation in China. It is expected that the projects will deploy at least 10 GW PV and benefit more than two million poor households in total by 2020.

Does PV improve poverty alleviation?

The PV poverty alleviation effect is stronger in poorer regions, particularly in Eastern China. Our results are robust to alternative specifications and variable definitions. We propose several policy recommendations to sustain progress in China's efforts to deploy PV for poverty alleviation.

Do solar photovoltaic projects improve poverty alleviation?

There lacks a comprehensive analysis on the large-scale deployment of solar photovoltaic projects and its impact on poverty alleviation. Here the authors show that solar photovoltaic poverty alleviation pilot policy increases per-capita disposable income in a county by approximately 7%-8%.

Who proposed photovoltaic poverty alleviation projects in China?

The photovoltaic poverty alleviation projects and corresponding procedures were proposed in China in 2015 by the National Energy Administration and the State Council Leading Group Office of Poverty Alleviation and Development.

Who is working on PV poverty alleviation project?

Work program on implementation of PV poverty alleviation project; 2014. National Development and Reform Commission, State Council of the People's Republic of China, National Energy Administration of the People's Republic of China, China Development Bank, Agricultural Development Bank of China.

Is solar energy for poverty alleviation a good idea in China?

It also had a bigger impact in the poorest counties. The Chinese government aims to install more than 10 GW of PV capacity under its solar energy for poverty alleviation program (SEPAP), especially in the poorest parts of eastern China, to benefit more than 2 million people by the end of this year.
