What is a pile driver?

Pile drivers are a go-to machine in the renewable energy market for the construction of ground mount solar projects. And, as construction in this niche application has grown exponentially in the last decade, contractors have begun looking for alternatives to the larger, traditional pile drivers.

How many pile drivers do Solar Contractors need per day?

So, Vermeer created a range of pile drivers that are specifically designed to meet the demands of commercial solar contractors and the expansive solar fields they install. According to Savage, solar contractors typically want to average 150 to 200 piles driven per day per machine.

Are solar farms a good market for Pile Driving Contractors?

As the demand for renewable energy increases—solar farms are becoming an ideal market for pile driving contractors due to the need for stable, long-lasting foundations that can support large-scale solar installations.

What equipment is used in solar farm construction?

Screw piling is also advantageous in terms of installation speed and can be easily removed or repositioned if necessary, but the initial cost of equipment can be higher. Hydraulic pile drivers are a versatile piece of equipment commonly used in solar farm construction.

How do I choose a pile for a solar farm?

The load-bearing capacity needed for the solar farm is another critical factor in selecting the type of pile. Projects requiring high load capacities—such as those with large, heavy solar panels or in regions with significant wind forces—may necessitate the use of concrete or composite piles.

Can a robotic pile driver meet the challenges of utility-scale solar?

Built engineers have spent thousands of hours developing an advanced autonomous solution that can rise to meet the challenges of utility-scale solar. Don't compromise on your tools. The RPD 35 is a fully autonomous robotic pile driver that combines four steps — surveying, pile distribution, pile driving, and data collection — into a single robot.
