

The biggest scam of solar power

Overview

Here are a few solar scam red flags to look out for: Claims that solar will “completely eliminate your electricity bill.” Many utilities have monthly fees that solar can’t offset. Including an incentive that you don’t qualify for. Some solar incentives are subject to income and geographical restrictions. Overestimated savings. Unexplainably low prices. Anything free. Are solar panels a scam?

With that demand comes fierce competition within the solar panel market. Scams, schemes and straight-up fraud abound in the dark underbelly of an otherwise light-filled industry. While there are still many honest and reliable solar panel companies on the market, it can be hard to differentiate the good guys from the rest.

Are 'upselling scams' causing a surge in solar panel fraud?

However, homeowners making the most of the Government’s solar panel drive have increasingly fallen victim to conmen. Citizens Advice has warned of a surge in solar panel fraud, particularly “upselling scams” in which cold-callers convince customers to upgrade technology they already have to meet fabricated legal “standards”.

Are 'fake' solar companies a scam?

Beware of any company asking you to make a big deposit before they have completed their installation. This is one of the most common ways ‘fake’ solar companies have targeted consumers - whereby they take a hefty deposit and then never turn up to carry out the installation. This is common solar scam.

Are solar panels worth the cost?

Solar panels can be worth the cost for some, but not every rooftop is suitable for solar panels. In the northern hemisphere, panels produce the most electricity facing south, although east- and west-facing panels work, too.
