

What happens if solar company goes out of business

Overview

Key Takeaways When a solar company goes out of business, homeowners may face challenges related to warranties, ongoing service, and maintenance of their solar power systems. Understanding warranty terms, seeking alternative service options, and exploring ownership transfer are crucial steps to mitigate the impact of a solar company going out of business. What happens if solar panels go out of business?

Solar panels are a long-term commitment that can require maintenance and service throughout their lifetime. If the company that installed the panels on your roof goes out of business, you could be left in a pickle.

What if a solar installer goes out of business?

The equipment manufacturer or your solar loan financing company could help connect you with their network of installers to complete repairs if your company goes out of business. Third-party warranties and Operations and Maintenance packages are available for solar systems to help protect you if your solar installer does go under.

What happens if a solar company closes?

While some solar companies may have provided ongoing maintenance services, their closure can leave customers without access to these crucial services. At EnergyAid, we offer comprehensive solar maintenance and repair services to ensure your system continues to perform at its best.

What happens if a solar company goes bankrupt?

Fortunately, bankrupt installers are frequently acquired by other solar companies, allowing service agreements and warranties to continue mostly uninterrupted. The fact that a company has filed for bankruptcy doesn't necessarily mean that its customers will lose support for the products or services that they've purchased.

Are solar companies going out of business?

If you've been following the news, you've probably noticed that the list of solar companies going out of business seems to keep getting longer. A confluence of factors, like higher interest rates and energy policy changes at the state level, have left some solar companies struggling to stay in business.

Why are some solar companies struggling to stay in business?

A confluence of factors, like higher interest rates and energy policy changes at the state level, have left some solar companies struggling to stay in business. Major companies like Titan Solar Power and ADT Solar have already gone under, leaving thousands of customers unsure of what to do with their solar panel systems.
