This Durban family decided to build their ideal holiday home in Cape Town. With family scattered all over the country, this is their special place to gather for seasonal celebrations. This esteemed estate was an excellent choice, mainly because of accessibility. "The area is central to retail, the beach and the airport. Everything Cape Town has to offer," says the owner.

The four-bedroomed home is a perfect fit for the family. "We wanted a different feel from our Durban property," says the owner. "A warmer feel, clean and easy living. A lock-up-and-go," she adds.

The décor and design were simple. "We started with the base colour grey and worked from there," says the owner. The owner and the decorator worked closely together, and shopping trips included visits to various stores and outlets. "I wanted it to be homely, but not too fussy. It's a holiday home after all," explains the owner. >

It can be used indoors or outdoors. Combine the table with superbly elegant and comfortable bonded leather chairs with teak coloured legs, and one can create a lovely setting of class and distinction. Sevens buyers source the world for the best in design, flair and quality in contemporary and classic furniture as well as accessories.

They used a mix of natural timber, cool tiling and stone for a calming, natural environment to achieve their ultimate aim: to relax, unwind and enjoy a holiday.

Colour and personality were added through the artwork and pieces the family have collected from various places they have visited. A stand-out piece is the artwork in the bathroom. "A friend of ours simply 'splashed' it," says the owner. The wallpaper in the guest bathroom is also something special, sporting a tropical vibe, a touch of Durban. "The bathroom is small so needed a personality," the owner says.

Personality flows throughout the home, where prominent walls are dressed with beautiful photographs of the mountains, also done by a friend of the family.

Everything about this home conforms to a holiday setting with little fuss. Even the exterior. The garden is water-wise and maintenance-free. "There is just enough space for us to potter around in," says the owner.

The family adore the area and the city. "We love the restaurants, the gym and the pools the estate has on offer," the owner says. "Cape Town is amazing. It is well-run, clean and has mountains and sea. The air is fresher here," she adds. 🏡
